A descendant writes: My great grandparents lived in Beaver Co., Pa. I think Wilksborough was my father's birthplace. They must have died in Ohio somewhere. They seemed to have lived with their children. Great grandmother, I think, lived with her son, Joseph W. White, in Medina Co., O., at Chardon, the county seat. My mother saw her after my parents' marriage, as they made them a visit. She said great grandmother was very old and at times her mind wandered when she talked of her troubles; at other times her mind was all right and she was very pleasant and quiet—no trouble at all. Great grandfather, it seems, lived with his daughters. I think he lived nearly 100 years and died in the woods, where he wandered. My impression is his body was never found. Ohio in those days was a dense forest and wolves and panthers were as plentiful as sheep are now. They lived apart in their old days and were taken care of by their children. I do not think great grandfather ever had a burial.
