

231. i. JAMES WHITE, the eldest child of Thomas White and Mary Vandyke, was b. in Philadelphia, Nov. 23d, 1779; m. Miss Lucy Parrott, dau. of Thorpe Parrott and Sarah Barton, June, 1804, near Fort Adams, Miss., Mr. ——— Wall, the County Magistrate officiating, there being few ministers of the Gospel in the vicinity at that period. He d. in Pinkneyville, Miss., May 13th, 1809.

James White moved with his father to Ohio, and from thence, owing to his frail health, to the mild climate of Southern Mississippi, then a territory. He was a merchant at Pinkneyville, a refined and cultured man, well educated, and in politics a Federalist.

[Sixth Generation]. Children:

242. i. James Franklin White: b. Wilkinsburg, Miss., Dec. 11, 1806; m. Emily Edwards, near Woodville, Miss., Oct. 1, 1834; d. Vicksburg, Miss., Oct. 1, 1863.

243. ii. Juliet White; b. Pinkneyville, Miss., Feb. 27, 1809; m. Dr. David Holt, in Woodville, Miss., July 21, 1825; d. Columbus, Miss., July 1 (or 2), 1891.

242. i. JAMES FRANKLIN WHITE, the eldest child of James White and Lucy Elizabeth Parrott, was b. in Wilkinsburg, Miss., Dec. 11th, 1806; m. Emily Edwards, dau. of Jesse Edwards and Elizabeth Moss Edwards, Oct. 1st, 1834, at her father's home, near Woodville, Miss., the Rev. William Winans, officiating clergyman. He d. Oct. 1st, 1863, in Vicksburg, Miss.

Mr. White was educated at the best academies for boys in Wilkinson County, and West Feliciana, La. Afterward he studied medicine with his brother-in-law, Dr. David Holt, and graduated in that profession at the Medical College of Cincinnati. He practiced many years in the Parish of West Feliciana, and subsequently fourteen years in "The Purchase" (Hinds Co.), Miss., then moving to the City of Vicksburg that his children might have better educational advantages. There he entered into the business of druggist, the firm "Hardaway & White." He is well remembered as a man of sterling integrity, active and energetic in business, of great benevolence of heart, and a pious and consistent member of the Methodist Church.